

Dearest Dolphins,

As you are aware, you will no longer be in Dolphins class for much longer as you all will morph into Turtles class, and most of you will be aware that I will still be teaching you from September! I am elated to be one of the lucky teachers who do not need to say goodbye to my wonderful class! (I'm hoping that you are all as ecstatic as me 😊)

The year began like any ordinary year, with us learning all about France and squirming at the thought of eating snails, to learning that small does not necessarily mean weak when we found out the smallest magnet being tested was, in fact, the strongest.

The year quickly moved onto the spring term, where we all began to build and grow in confidence! You learnt how to take care of plants and in turn, realised that people too need taking care of. Your friendships blossomed, and you all made sure that you took care of each other during playtimes.

The laughs, the tears, the trials, the triumphs, the 'I CAN'T do this', to the 'I CAN do this, and 'I WILL do this' experiences we all had together! I guess we all have this to look forward to again!

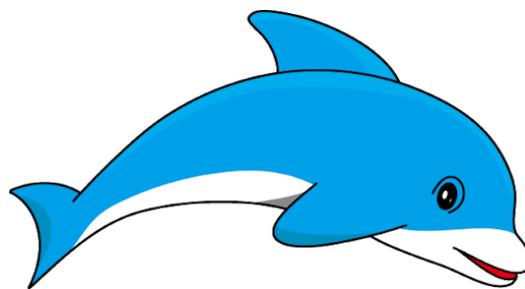

The memory of the final half term we had, seems to be lost apart from the worry of the looming lockdown! I am sure many of you did not expect that we would be away from school for this long! The silver lining for me is the fact that I get to teach you all again!

Now for next year, let's all pray, hope and hold on to the thought that our school journey will return to the way it once was. I am looking forward to being back at the front of the classroom with all your attentive faces waiting to take on new knowledge.

I cannot wait for the year to begin!

PS: Turner and Townsend would like you all to take part in a 'writing competition,' and there are prizes that can be won. Go into the Stewart Headlam website for more information.
