

Dear Turtle Class,

What a strange year we have experienced! I am so proud to have taught you this year - all of you - you worked so hard to understand the learning taking place in class and of the high expectations I expected from you!

I hope you have carried on learning at home just like I have expected you to do so from September because you all know what is expected of you. If you want to have fun and experiment with your learning, you have to put the extra effort in (as a number of you do so well 😊).

Unfortunately, we could not complete the academic year for obvious reasons and our learning journey had come to an end abruptly. And this had made me quite sad.

But... hey, I will see you in September in the playground when lining up in at the end of play; taking the register in the morning and after lunch; and when teaching you Maths, English Writing, Reading, Topic and Science. I will see you in September from Monday to Friday - 8.55am till 3.30pm.

Vincent

to

