What is this book about?

This book is about living light. It's about fireflies, glow worms, Algae, Fungi, jellyfish, squid, fish and sharks. When the squids sleep they keep their eyes open because they don't have eyelids. Glow worms are not actually worms they are actually baby insects. A glow worm who is a female has a light on the end of its tail to attract male glow worms. The fireflies flash with their light to communicate. A cookycutter is a shark that is a living light. All cookycutters have light all around it except it's dark patch. The dark patch near its head. The dark patch tricks the bigger fish into thinking it's a little fish then goes towards it then the cookycutter eats it instead.

What is the most interesting part?

The most interesting part is the Algae because I was interested that if Algae grows together it's called a bloom.
