

I am a shadowless, dreary cloud at the beginning of my life. Every second that passes by I get angrier and quicker uncontrollably. I start to scream and howl letting out my wicked side take over me. I whirl and twist around and feel the bumpy road underneath my toes. I grow bigger and stronger as if I was the king of the world. I am a monster devouring everything I see in front of me like a tiger chasing its prey.

I start to twist and hypnotise people and they scream and run but nobody can save them from me. People fear me but that doesn't change my mind to eat everything. I consume everything that was in my path and left a path of destruction behind me. I am like a never-ending fire. I am free to play around for once. It is live or loss for the helpless humans.

No one can defeat me now. Wait! What's happening to me why am I shrinking? I am turning into dust and floating into the clouds. I roar, " I WILL BE BACK TO DESTROY THE WORLD." I can't feel the ground anymore, I can't see people screaming and running away from me! Is this the end for me? Will I devour everything in this universe again?

Anuska