

Reading Challenge 2021 Spring 1 (Google Classroom)

Fiction or nonfiction: Fiction

Name: Spider-Man Miles Morales

Aiman (Puffins)

(Peter is the original Spider-Man)

After going through what Peter had experienced, (being bitten by a radioactive spider) Miles turned into his idol: Spider-Man. New York City now had two heroes, two Spider-Men to be exact. You're probably thinking, wouldn't there be double the power? To answer that, no, Peter had left to go vacate while Miles took care of New York City.

Miles and Peter had similarities but Miles was different. He had a venom energetic punch? To explain it easier, he had an ability of electricity surging through his hands. If the ability were to be turned on, electricity would electrocute the entire body leading you to slowly pass away. If you were to survive "The punch" just like any other Spider-Man, you would be finished off in some way. To be completely honest, the electricity power thing is DEFINITELY deadly. (And I mean that).